DeQueen Bank Is Robbed of $7,000 Early Thursday

Second Robbery of First National Bank Within Past Year

BANDITS ESCAPE

Over $500 in Silver Is Overlooked by Robbers in Daring Holdup

DEQUEEN, Ark.—Two bandits who held up the First National Bank of DeQueen at noon Thursday and dashed away with $7,000 had apparently made good their escape Thursday night.

Sheriff Jim Sutton of Sevier county returned here late Thursday after spending the afternoon across the Oklahoma boundary line searching for the two. Although Russell McKinney reported that he saw two men run from the bank and drive west in an automobile, the motor of which had been left running, Sheriff Sutton said Thursday night that he did not believe the two had headed for Oklahoma.

Bandits Escape

With the single exception of McKinney, Sheriff Sutton said no one had seen the bandits leave the bank and that he was without clue which might lead to their capture. The sheriff professed ignorance of a report that three youths had been held at Gilham, 12 miles north of here, for questioning in the robbery. It was reported that they were later released after providing an alibi. Two other youths were also taken from a train at Texarkana, it was reported.

All surrounding towns and cities had been notified of the robbery and officers were instructed to pick up all suspicious persons.

Assistant Cashier Terry Hunsucker, who was the only official in the bank at the time of the holdup, said two men, one about five feet two, and the other five feet six, entered the bank about 12:30 and that one man drew a pistol from a newspaper, A. O. Williams, bank customer, was forced to lie on the floor with Hunsucker while the two scooped up $7,000 in currency, passing up between $500 and $800 in silver.

While the two men were on the floor, Mrs. B. Gatewood, of Dallas, entered the bank. She was unaware of the holdup and inquired as to why she could get no service. "We're robbing the bank," one of the bandits told her as he ordered her to march into a vault with Hunsucker and Williams. Mrs. Gatewood dropped her purse and fainted in the president's office. The bandits fled after putting the two men in the vault.

They failed to throw the combination and Hunsucker opened the vault door a few minutes after the bandits fled and sounded the alarm.

The robbery Thursday was the second within a year for a DeQueen bank, three men having held up Hunsucker last December 26, and escaped with $14,500. Charles Tobin, 40-year-old cripple, was convicted of the crime and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. The other two have never been apprehended.

Two Men Held in El Dorado Holdup

Former Texarkanian One of Pair Jailed Over Store Robbery

EL DORADO, Ark.—Charged with robbery in connection with the holdup of the Piggy Wiggly store at Smackover last Saturday night, W. P. Dickert, 30, former stevedore for a local newspaper, and Louis Mullins, 25, grocery clerk, were in the Union county jail Thursday night following their arrest by county officers.

The two were arrested by Constable Johnny Daniels and Deputies B. A. Hancock and Walter Vanhook at the home of Mullins' mother, Mrs. Jim Rowland three miles west of El Dorado on the Magnolia highway.

The arrests were made on descriptions furnished by the employees of the grocery store who officers say have identified Dickert as one of the pair. Neither of the men has made a statement, and bond has not been set. Preliminary hearing will be held Friday morning before Judge Floyd E. Stein in municipal court. Dickert came to El Dorado several years ago from Fouke, Ark., and recently returned to El Dorado from the East Texas oil field, where he was said to have made considerable money in the hotel business. Mullins formerly worked for the Piggy Wiggly store. The store was robbed of approximately $600 by two unmasked men who entered at closing time and forced the cashier to turn over the day's receipts.

Dickert was employed in Texarkana several years ago.

Methodists Plan to Consolidate

Consolidation of Two State Conferences Is Being Sought

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—A commission to study a proposed consolidation of the two conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in Arkansas was authorized Friday at the annual meeting of the Little Rock conference.

Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs was instructed to name the members of the commission to meet with a similar commission, recently appointed by the North Arkansas Conference.

Music Club Will Render 'Messiah'

Rehearsals Under Way by Mrs. R. A. Boyett, Local Musician

Mrs. Ralph Routon, president of the Friday Music Club, announces a presentation of Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah" at the First Methodist church on Sunday evening, December 13, at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be no evening services at the other churches of the city on that day.

The choral department of the Friday Music Club will sing, assisted by a group of the best male voices in town.

The Messiah is the most popular oratorio ever written and is given at Christmas-tide all over the world, wherever there is a group of cultured musicians.

Mrs. R. A. Boyett is the director and is a musician with much experience, with oratorios and directing choruses. She has been rehearsing the chorus for some weeks and a treat is in store for the music loving public on this occasion.

Girl Takes $3,000 In Pantages Suit

$1,000,000 Action Brought in Attack Case Settled Out of Court

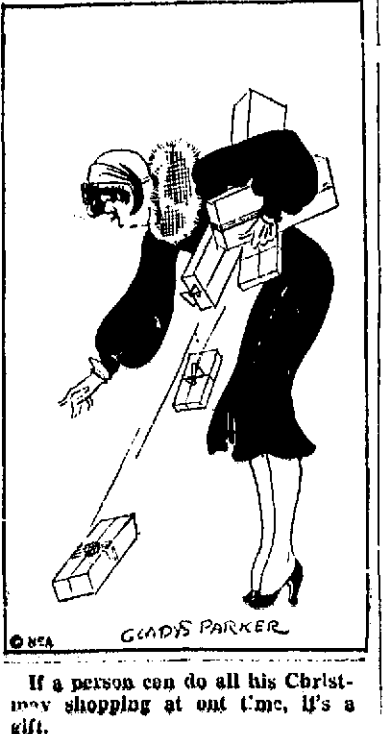

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—An abrupt end to the Alexander Pantages-Eunice Pringle attack case was reached Thursday. The co-ed dancer settled for $3,000, a $1,000,000 damage suit pending against the theatrical magnate as the result of an alleged criminal attack.

Accompained by Mrs. Irene Pringle and Dr. Lewis A. Pringle, her parents, Miss Pringle appeared before Superior Judge M. F. McComb where lawyers for the dancer and Pantages stipulated to the settlement. She will receive $2,100, the balance going to her lawyer.

Last Friday Pantages was acquitted at his trial granted by the State Supreme Court after he had been convicted more than two years ago. The retrial was granted on grounds that testimony concerning Miss Pringle's moral character had been stricken from the records and should have been allowed.

Miss Pringle's civil suit was filed several weeks after the conclusion of the first trial in 1929. The trial had been set for January.

Report Slated Soon Upon Steel Rail Probe

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A report on an investigation to determine whether steel rail producers combined to fix prices is expected shortly by the justice department.

Attorney General Mitchell said Thursday a justice department investigation would return in a few days from Denver "prepared to make a report."

The investigation was undertaken sometime ago after Senator Couzens, of Michigan, asserted in the senate that steel rail prices continued on a high level despite downward fluctuations of materials. Previously the interstate commerce commission had suggested investigation.

The attorney general said the report might be merely a progress report, or might show the investigation had been completed.

C. C. Membership Drive Next Week

Ralph Routon Entertains New Board With Duck Dinner

Ralph Routon entertained the board of directors of Hope Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at Grassy Lake with a fine duck dinner as ever served in Hempstead county.

The retiring president was host to the new board at its regular December meeting, the scene being laid in Mr. Routon's clubhouse on a famous duck hunting grounds about 20 miles from the city.

Twelve of the 18 directors were present as follows:

Following the duck dinner members of the board held a business meeting, deciding to stage the annual membership campaign next week.

A finance-membership committee will be announced over the week-end to take charge of the canvassing.

State Auditor To Appear in Movie

Warner Brothers to Make "Believe It Or Not" Film at Once

LITTLE ROCK.—While State Auditor J. Oscar Humphrey, who was featured in a Ripley "Believe It Or Not" cartoon several months ago as the best "no handed" marksman and automobile driver in the country, was on a quail hunt Thursday a telegram was received at his office from Samuel Sax, manager of Warner Bros. Vitaphone studio at Brooklyn, N. Y., asking him to participate in the making of a "Believe It Or Not" motion picture.

Mrs. Humphrey and employees of the auditor's office accepted the invitation for Mr. Humphrey before he knew it had been extended. Arrangements were made by Warner Bros. through Joseph Shrader, Little Rock photographer, to have a short motion picture film made showing Mr. Humphrey firing at targets at short and long range, driving an automobile and doing other things that appear difficult for a person without hands or arms.

The film will be sent to the Brooklyn studios to be reproduced as part of a Ripley picture, which will be released for showing in theaters throughout the country within a few weeks.

Local Musician To Sing Over KWKH

Mrs. Ralph Routon to Be Heard on Air Sunday Night, December 6

Mrs. Ralph Routon, will broadcast from KWKH, Shreveport, La., at 11:30 p. m. Sunday night, December 6th.

She will play her own compositions and accompany Professor Andrew Lawrence Quattlebaum of the Centenary College department of music, who will sing songs composed by Mrs. Routon.

This program is being presented by requests of friends of Mrs. Routon, was recently heard in a program over this same station.

Salvador In Hands of Military Group After Street Fight

Elections of New Leaders Expected Within Next 48 Hours

HEAVY FIGHTING

President Barricaded in Palace During Battles Thursday

SAN SALVADOR.—(AP)—Military junta governed the republic of Salvador Friday following a short lived revolt Thursday which resulted in sharp fighting and the flight of President Arturo Araujo from the country.

The military group assumed complete control after the fighting had ceased and prepared to secure the ratification of congress until elections can be held.

Elections are anticipated within the next 48 hours.

President Barricaded

President Araujo was barricaded in the palace at San Salvador, surrounded by loyal troops and National Guardsmen under Gen. Armando Llanos during fierce fighting. The rebels were said to have been aided by the First Infantry regiment.

A Salvadorean airplane arrived here and its occupants, Pilot Julio Sosa and two other aviators, were arrested as fugitive rebels.

Troops in the interior of Salvador were reported to have remained loyal to President Araujo.

Clashes in Streets

Heavy fighting took place in the streets of San Salvador, and firearms were brought into play in several instances. The situation was said to be "very grave," although a state of siege has been in effect since July.

President Araujo was said to have ordered that no airplanes should land at or depart from the city until the movement had been brought under control.

The republic of Salvador, 140 miles long and 60 miles wide, has had a troubled history since it gained its independence from Spain in 1821. Late in 1927 the government put down an uprising and executed two army officers. In 1929 a plot to assassinate President Bosque was thwarted and the leaders arrested. Disturbances, said to have been inspired by Communists, occurred in 1930.

Senor Araujo was elected early this year to succeed Dr. Bosque. The balloting was without disorder as the result of strenuous precautions taken by authorities. Martial law subsequently was declared because of attacks against the government in opposition newspapers.

Labor Head Asks Work, Not Charity

Five-Day Week of Seven Hours Daily on Job Urged to Council

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A vigorous demand for work, "not charity and relief" was laid before the senate manufacturers subcommittee Thursday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green pleaded for a five-day week with seven hours daily on the job, to distribute work among the unemployed.

If industries insist upon working employees 50 hours weekly, he said there will be a permanent unemployment problem.

"If every employable person who wanted a job had one, the total work for each would be 35 hours weekly," he said, adding "there's work enough for all on the basis of a five-day week seven hours a day."

Green said he opposed unemployment insurance as a program for handling a permanent problem. He said it was up to industry, however, to take care of employees displaced by mechanization or for other reasons.

Meetings Planned By W.C.T.U. Group

First of 25 Sessions Starts at Washington Friday Morning

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A call for "real friends of prohibition" to rally against resubmission of the 18th amendment to state conventions came Friday from Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in an address, opening a four day regional conference of that organization.

"Other Woman" Involved In Love Triangle Tangle

When an unknown young woman sends notes to your fiance during a dinner date, when she calls him "darling" and "sweet-heart-dearest" in a most affectionate tone, and when the man's explanations are clumsy and hesitating, are you justified in breaking the engagement?

Ann Fenwick's answer is "Yes."

Even though the engagement has lasted eight years it should be broken, according to Ann. She is one angle of a triangle love tangle involving Phil Ecroyd, lawyer, and Letty King, file clerk, in the new serial, "Three Kinds of Love," by Kay Cleaver Strahan.

The problems of the long engagement are presented in this story of three modern girls and how they met romance. Ann, engaged for eight years to Ecroyd, sees a younger, livelier rival win him away from her.

Among the indictments of the long-drawn-out engagement offered in the novel are following:

(1) It binds a young couple without giving them the happiness of home life.

(2) It steals the glamour from love, making it commonplace and taken for granted.

(3) It is almost certain to lead to disagreements and quarrels which eventually will cause an open break and much unhappiness.

"Three kinds of Love" introduces other problems of modern young people. Its characters are likable, and appealing. You can't afford to miss a single chapter. "Three Kinds of Love" begins next Wednesday in Hope Star.

Officers on Trail of Two Kidnapers

Hammer Co. Official Said Filling Station Manager Held Up

MCCRORY.—A pair of highwaymen and kidnapers are being sought by officers of three counties. Their victims were J. L. Gardner, manager of the Arkmo Lumber yards at Wynne, Cross county, and Drew Douglas, operator of a gasoline filling station a mile east of McCrory, Woodruff county.

The highwaymen first appeared at the Arkmo mill and held up Gardner. After robbing him of approximately $30, they forced him into their car and drove to the Home service station operated by Douglas. They lost little time looting the station money drawer of its contents, about $8. Douglas also was forced to get into the robbers' car.

The two kidnaped men were taken to a Negro church about 18 miles north of McCrory, where they were tied up and stripped of part of their clothing. Then the kidnapers drove away in the direction of Newport.

Gardner and Douglas freed themselves in a short time. Sheriff Smith of Woodruff county, who was in the community, was on the trail of the robbers within a few minutes. Officers of Cross and Jackson counties immediately set out in pursuit.

The robbers threatened their victims with a sawed-off shotgun.

Overstreet Talks To Hope Rotarians

President of Magnolia A. & M. Speaks on Economic Outlook

Although there are some individual lessons in thrift to be learned as a result of the panic, the fact remains that American society must find some real solution for unemployment, President C. A. Overstreet of Magnolia A. & M. college told Hope Rotary club at its luncheon Friday noon in Hotel Balow.

Denying that he was the pessimist of his friends thought him to be, Mr. Overstreet said society had a pressing need to face the facts, if it expected ever to find a way out of the business gloom into which the world was plunged in 1929.

Other guests besides Mr. Overstreet were four members of the Stamps Rotary club who came here in a body for Friday's luncheon. The Stamps Rotary club who came here in a body for Friday's luncheon. The Stamps Rotarians were: Ross Crane, Claud Cox, Phil Carpenter and M. L. Dudney.

Negro Sought By Posse Near Stamps

Accused of Attack Upon Mrs. Artie Clark Near Falcon

STAMPS, Ark.—Frank "Catfish" Moore, negro, accused of an attack Wednesday upon Mrs. Artie Clark of Nevada county, was being sought Thursday night in dense woods of Bodew creek, 15 miles north of here, where he was reported to have fled following the attack near Falcon, small community in Nevada county.

Five Stamps citizens, hastily deputized, headed by Deputy Sheriff Grover Cummings, were stationed in the woods awaiting the negro's surrender. It was believed he would be captured early Friday.

Considerable feeling aroused in the county when first news of the attack came had subsided Thursday night and officers were anticipating no mob violence in event the negro is caught.

The attack occurred in the Clark automobile late Wednesday afternoon after Clark had left the negro in the automobile with his wife while he walked to a nearby house to prepare a herd of mules which the negro was to drive back to Stamps.

Mrs. Clark said she fought the negro away from her and screamed. The negro fled into the woods as Clark ran toward the car after hearing the screams of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark took the negro with them from Stamps to Falcon in their automobile Wednesday afternoon, intending to leave him there to drive the mules back to Stamps.

Moore had been working for Clark several months, doing carpenter work about Clark's place and other odd jobs in Stamps.

Arriving at the house at which the mules were kept, Clark parked the automobile and walked to the house. He left Mrs. Clark and the negro sitting in the machine.

A. Tatam, Stamps city marshal, said the negro served a term in the penitentiary in 1921 for attacking a 12-year-old negro girl.

The woods were searched Wednesday night, but members of the posse refused to give up the case Thursday in the belief that the negro would be found near where the attack occurred.

It was not believed that the negro was armed.

Four Slightly Hurt As Bus Overturns

Shoulder of the Highway Crumbles Under Weight of Heavy Machine

An aged woman, a young girl and two men were slightly injured Thursday night when a southbound Missouri Pacific bus skidded off the highway three and a half miles north of here, and overturned into a ditch. The injured were taken to a local hospital and treated and then returned to a hotel. They refused to give their names.

The accident occurred when the driver of the bus attempted to swerve the machine around an automobile wrecker which was parked in the road. The weight of the heavy machine caused the shoulder of the highway to give way and the bus overturned into a ditch which contained about three feet of water.

Six other passengers and the driver of the bus escaped injury. They were removed from the overturned machine through the windows. The aged woman was strangling in the water.

Mrs. Caraway Does Not Attend Party Conference Friday

Congress Convenes in Regular Session Next Monday

TO SAET BANKHEAD

Democrats Say No Basis for Refusing Seat to Alabama

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senate Republicans and Democrats organized their machines without a hitch Friday but the Republican Independents are opposing the re-election of Senator Moses, president pro tem of the senate have absented themselves from their party conference.

Two parties will go into the session opening Monday, with the same organizations.

Watson, of Indiana, will head the Republicans and Robinson of Arkansas the Democrats.

Mrs. Hattie Caraway, of Arkansas, recently appointed to succeed her husband, did not attend the Democratic party Friday, but is expected to be present on roll call.

Senate Democrats, in conference Friday, decided to vote a seat to Senator Bankhead of Alabama. Monday any attempt is made to prevent him from taking the oath of office.

Democratic leader, Robinson, announced following the party conference that those present agreed that there was no basis for refusing a seat to Bankhead, either in precedent or in fact.

Held For Wrecking Train; Gives Alibi

Texan Will Be Released; Investigation in Gurdon Crash Continued

ARKADELPHIA.—J. H. Lyons, of Victoria, Texas, proved an alibi to satisfy Clark county officers Thursday afternoon that he was not implicated in the wrecking of a Missouri Pacific freight train near Gurdon early Wednesday, Sheriff Alfred Duke said Thursday night.

Lyons will not be released until Friday, however, the sheriff said.

The suspect furnished the name of a motorist in whose auto he was riding at the time of the train wreck and officers at Victoria were telephoned Thursday afternoon to finally establish the identity of the suspect, according to Sheriff Duke.

The story originally told by Lyons who was given a ride by Sheriff Duke on the highway near the wreck Wednesday morning, in which a number of discrepancies were found, was cleared up Thursday afternoon when the suspect underwent a thorough grilling in the Clark county jail.

The prisoner proved that he was many miles north of Gurdon on the day before the wreck and was riding toward Gurdon with the motorist whose name he gave and who later corroborated his statement at the time of the wreck.

Sheriff Duke continued the investigation Thursday night in hopes of additional arrests. Clues were scarce, however and no arrests were predicted immediately.

The engine and 14 cars of the freight train were derailed. Missouri Pacific officials declared the rails had been tampered with and expressed belief that the attempt had been directed toward the Sunshine, crack passenger which was scheduled to pass the scene an hour later at its usual speed of between 60 and 70 miles an hour.

Railway officials who rushed here from Little Rock Wednesday had returned to their offices Thursday.

New Fixtures Installed in Gurdon Post Office

GURDON, Ark.—New fixtures for the post office have been received and installed together with equipment needed. Heretofore the fixtures belonged to Mr. O'Neal of Hope, who owns the building in which the office is located, but new and better equipment has been sent here by the government and the old has been discarded. The office now has a more attractive appearance and the convenience far exceeds the old fixtures.

Give to Banish Need

THE pitiful little 13-year-old who was rescued from the windowless Washington closet where her father and stepmother had confined her seems to have attracted the kindly attention of most of the nation. Endless columns have been printed about her. We have been told in detail how she has been introduced to the joys of sunlight, toys and good food, and we have been guilty of a good deal of sentimentality concerning her.

News events like the one that has built itself up around her are not entirely good for us. They stir our sympathies, to be sure, and they help us to realize how black and dismal a child's life can be made. But they divert our minds from the real issue.

This youngster's situation was exceptional—in one sense. There are not, luckily, many children situated precisely as she was. But there are hundreds of thousands of children in the United States who do not, on the whole, have things so very much better than she had them; and when we expand our sympathetic energies on her we have none left over for the rest, and it is hard for anyone to arouse our interest in them.

Ask any social service worker to tell you about the way some children have to live in our biggest cities. Get some mine union representative to tell you about the lot of children in some of the nation's coal towns. Go to one or another of the innumerable homes in which the bread-winner has not had a job for a year or more and see how the children get along there.

Then, when you have done that, see if this pathetically unlucky little girl in Washington was really much worse off than thousands upon thousands of her brothers and sisters.

We don't ordinarily bother our heads much about these other children. We would rather pour out our moral indignation over individual cases that get on the front pages. This little girl lived in the dark, she had poor food, she had no toys? Well, there are many others like her—only we don't hear about them.

From one end of the country to the other, about now, charitable organizations are appealing for money. If the case of this Washington youngster oppressed you—just remember, when you have a chance to contribute to one of these fund campaigns, that your money will be helping some other children who are not very much better off than she was.

Trend of Literature

A LIST was compiled the other day of the best sellers of the last thirty years. It reveals much about the trend of American life.

Back in 1902 "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was a well known literary figure. She lived in a simple, homely story. There was something refreshing about her. And when "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" left home in 1904 with only his dog to trail him across the mountains he had a wet-eyed audience. That same tearful influence went along the trail of the Lonesome Pine when June went back to remember her lost romance. It predominated when Garth went blind in "The Rosary."

Books were simple. They dealt with emotions that hadn't acquired a veneer of sophistication. Life wasn't complex in those tales. For the most part books were erected on love and sacrifice and honor. If an author could make his readers weep he had done much.

But another influence crept in just before 1915. Industry was growing larger. It was fast becoming a predominating force in American social life. And since literature follows life, it became the skeleton for fiction plots as well.

Booth Tarkington used it in "The Turmoil." Smoky skies of American cities were as interesting as the drama of love over which two young people fought on a more or less industrial basis.

But "Seventeen" was a return to pure, unalloyed enjoyment of the wistfulness that goes with youth. It was life itself, unhampered by outside restriction. Life at 17. And it was lovely.

And then suddenly literature wasn't afraid to look at the hidden side of life. It decided not only to talk about the things that people do, and their consequences, but to give the reasons for the actions. It grew introspective. It criticized when it felt like it. It caricatured.

Instead of telling a story about a certain group of people it chose cross-sections of life itself. It had a lesson to teach.
 The fact that John married Mary was interesting but not important. Quite probably John didn't. And if he did he and Mary were just as likely to have wished that they hadn't.

"Main Street." "Elmer Gantry." "If Winter Comes,"
 "So Bib" . . . the list began to look as though the authors were living intensively as well as extensively. Best sellers had outgrown their growing pains. They weren't afraid to talk about the symptoms of life.

And literature, while it may not be as quietly enjoyable, is considerably more instructive. That is—if you want to be instructed.

Now to Boil It Down!

Do You Remember?

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mesdames C. Duttlinger, of Little Rock, and John Ledgerwood, of Hot Springs, visited our city this week and organized a Rebecca Lodge here.
 Dr. W. A. Bryant, Capt. J. H. Black,
 J. F. Johnson, Dr. J. A. Henry, Dr. G.
 H. Martindale and Dr. R. M. Wilson went to Grassy Lake Wednesday afternoon, returning Thursday night with 83 ducks.

Bob Raga, the only one, who has been living in Indian Territory for the past three months, has been visit-

Mrs. Sid Henry Telephone 821

I wish that there were some wonderful place.
Called the Land of Beginning Again;
Where all our mistakes and all our
And all our poor selfish grief
Could be dropped like a shabby old coat at the door,
And never put on again.
It wouldn't be possible not to be kind
In the Land of Beginning Again;
And the ones we misjudged and the ones whom we grudge.
Their moments of victory here,
Would find in the grasp of a loving hand clasp
More than penitent lips could explain.
For there isn't a string that would not take wing
When we've faced it and laughed it away;
And we think that the laughter is most what we're after
In the Land of Beginning Again.

Will Rogers Plays Role He Made Famous in Real Life

Will Rogers dressed in a boiled shirt, as the backwoods American ambassador attached to an etiquette-ridden European court. Such is the guise in which we see the famous funster in "Ambassador Bill," his latest Fox picture, showing at the Saenger Theatre Sunday and Monday, as an envoy whose first diplomatic (?) act is to suggest that they call off a special presentation because the queen has "hurdy feet!"

"Ambassador Bill" is a perfect "fit" for the famous reporter-actor due to the fact that it allows him to "be himself." Famous as a pungent commentator on current topics, and as an "unofficial ambassador" sent to laugh international troubles away, this film simply makes him re-live events that he must know by heart.

Laid in the timely scene of a glamorous little kingdom ruled over by a boy, it deals with the political machinations of a wily dictator to make himself the real power behind the throne. Rogers, in the role of the worldly-wise "Dollar Bill" Harper, has something to say about this, however. And says it, naturally, in a manner that would split anybody's sides.

The picture is not, however, limited to wisecracks. No more than is Rogers himself in his daily writings. Even some of the laughs themselves come close to tears. This is particularly true of some of the sequences played by Rogers and young Ted Alexander, who enacts the role of the boy king. One of the best of these is that in which the youngster is made to realize that he has been a poor sport in his first baseball game.

Many of the wittiest quips in "Ambassador Bill" are said to have been written, or re-written, by Rogers himself. The cowboy-humorist seems to find it almost impossible to go through a picture without injecting some of his own pungent comments in it. For which it does not suffer in the least.

Sam Taylor directed "Ambassador Bill," and some of those seen in support of Rogers include Greta Nissen, Marguerite Churchill, Tad Alexander and Gustav von Seyffertitz.

Wyoming to Mark Trail of Covered Wagon Trains

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Trails followed through Wyoming by the pony express and the immigrants' covered wagons are to be marked with plaques, so that modern travelers who speed over the same routes nowadays in comfortable automobiles can take note of the plaques marking the trail over which William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody, and other famous pioneer mail carriers rode during the years 1860-1882.

A covered wagon will be the distinctive marking on the plaques which will be placed at intervals along the routes followed by the immigrants.

Start Hangar

SUNNYVALE, Cal.—The Navy's Pacific coast airship hangar here is under way and completion of this huge building is expected by March, 1933. The hangar will be about three blocks long, two blocks wide, and will have a height equivalent to 18 stories. Despite this size, it is smaller than the hangar erected in Akron, Ohio, for the U. S. S. Akron.

The present administration at the University of North Dakota has spent nearly $3,500 on improvements for the school's athletic field.

Muscle Shoals Legislation Watched By Farm Leaders

By FRANK I. WELLES
Associated Press Farm Editor
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Prediction by Senator Black of Alabama that a democratic congress will pass a Muscle Shoals bill similar to the one vetoed by President Hoover last spring has renewed farm interest in the government's $150,000,000 war-time nitrate and power plants.

A few months ago the American Farm Bureau Federation suggested the property be taken over and operated by a farmer-owned and controlled corporation provided congress appropriated funds to modernize it and build additional dams in the Tennessee river and its tributaries.

Soon afterward it was learned that the administration was opposed to the investment of more public funds. Overtures to chemical manufacturing concerns originally interested in Muscle Shoals brought the reply that they would not advance the proposed corporation the capital necessary to finance the work.

The farm bureau's committee on Muscle Shoals is to make its report prior to the national convention on December 7 to 9 but it is not expected to recommend its acquisition by a farm corporation unless the government agrees to modernize and complete the system of plans and dams. Edward A. O'Neill, president of the Farm Bureau federation, has said his organization will oppose any plan for operating Muscle Shoals which does not include the building of Cove creek dam in the Clinch river in Tennessee.

The chief purpose of the dam is to create a 54,000-acre reservoir to insure a constant high flow of water in the Tennessee and thus increase the primary horsepower at Wilson dam from 100,000 to between 400,000 and 500,000 horsepower.

Bill Vetoed By Hoover
The Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals and which the president vetoed, provided for construction of the dam.

It proposed to give the president 12 months in which to lease the nitrate plants to a suitable interest before launching government operation. It is in that point that the farm bureau would be interested should a bill similar to the Norris measure be enacted.

A farm corporation might bid for the use of the equipment with the idea of manufacturing low-cost fertilizer should Senator Black's prediction prove true and congress be sufficiently powerful to pass the bill over the veto some feel reasonably sure the president would invoke.

Making Sea Safe for Land Planes

Lives of many landlubbers who go down to the sea in planes are expected to be saved by this new safety device—a streamlined metal container for a rubber life raft for use on wheel-equipped planes operating over water. Lieutenant George P. Tourtellot, army air corps flyers who designed the device, is shown above in his plane at Honolulu, T. H., with the boat container fastened to the upper wing. The raft may be removed and inflated in 30 seconds if the plane is forced to land in the ocean.

Arkadelphia Orders Embargo on Cotton

ARKADELPHIA, Ark.—G. A. Armstrong, general manager of the Federal Compress company here, announces that an embargo on cotton receipts was put into effect and that no more cotton will be shipped in until a portion of the large surplus on hand can be sent out. There is now on hand a total of 10,191 bales of which 1500 is out in the yard. Altogether the compress has handled 14,964 bales of this year's crop and more than 20,000 are expected by the end of the compress year.

Young Girl Gains Skill In Feathering Arrows

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—Again a woman challenges the skill of men in a field which was wholly theirs in the days of Robin Hood. Fern Martin, still in her teens, has become an expert fletcher—one who feathers arrows.

"Fletchers in Robin Hood's day generally were stalwart, straight shooting bowmen," said Chester A. Seay, her employer.

"With competition in archery as keen as it is, the arrow must fly true. A straight, well-fashioned shaft is essential, as is a balanced tip, but if the feathering is faulty the arrow will miss its mark. So much depends upon Miss Martin's skill."
